Software License Agreement · Version 2026-11

Applies to every purchase of the Software made from November 2026 onwards. For Software sold under an earlier license, the license supplied with the installer applies.

1. Parties, ownership, licensor, sales

EurekaLog, including its source code, compiled code, tools, documentation and installers (the "Software"), is owned by Fabio Dell'Aria (the "Author"). Neos Eureka S.r.l., Palermo, Italy (the "Licensor"), is the only party that grants licenses to the Software. Licenses are sold through the Licensor's website or by authorized resellers. Purchases on the website, including those a reseller makes there for a customer, are governed by the terms published on the website, including its refund policy. Purchases from an authorized reseller outside the website are governed by that reseller's terms for payment, invoices, taxes and refunds. In every case, the license is granted by the Licensor under this agreement. By installing or using the Software you accept this agreement. If you do not accept it, do not install or use the Software.

2. Grant and editions

The Licensor grants you a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the Software to develop, compile, debug and test applications for yourself or your clients ("Applications"), within the edition and license type you bought. All rights not expressly granted are reserved.

Trial: for evaluation only.

Professional: the Software, without source code.

Enterprise: the Software, with its source code; you may modify and recompile it only to build your Applications.

3. Developers, computers, license types, coverage

A "Developer" is any individual assigned by you to develop, compile, debug or test Applications that use the Software, whether employee, contractor, freelancer, consultant, part-time worker or similar. A "Computer" is a physical machine or a virtual machine, including a VM or container instance used as a computer.

Single Developer: each seat covers one Developer designated by you, who may use the Software on any number of Computers, anywhere. You choose the Developers and may permanently reassign a seat when the current Developer leaves or stops working with the Software, without notifying the Licensor. A seat may not be shared, lent or temporarily reassigned. The number of seats is stated in your order confirmation.

Company: all Developers assigned by you to one physical address of the purchasing company may use the Software at that address or remotely. A Developer assigned to another address is not covered.

Corporate: all Developers assigned by you to the purchasing company or its subsidiaries may use the Software at any of their offices or remotely. A Developer assigned to another entity is not covered. A subsidiary is an entity the company controls by more than 50% of voting rights.

For every license type: every Developer must be covered by a license; a Developer who is not your employee is covered only while working for you or, under a Corporate license, for a subsidiary; a Computer owned or controlled by you, including a rented cloud instance, that is used only to compile or test Applications, such as a build server or CI agent, needs no additional license.

4. Perpetual license and maintenance

The license is perpetual, subject to the termination clause. Each purchase includes a maintenance period. Its length is stated on the Licensor's website and in your order.

During the period you may download, at no extra charge, every version of the Software released on or before the end of the period, including versions released before the purchase date, and you receive priority support as described on the Licensor's website.

After it ends, you may keep using those versions without time limit. You may download the versions you are entitled to for as long as the Licensor provides the download service; keeping a copy of each version you use is recommended. If the service ends, the Licensor will give reasonable notice where practicable, and the versions you have downloaded remain licensed to you under this agreement. Applications compiled with them may be used and distributed without restriction. Newer versions are not licensed to you, and you lose priority support, until you renew. Renewals, upgrades and changes of edition or license type are offered on the terms published on the website.

5. Redistribution and restrictions

You may reproduce and distribute the executable files of Applications you compile with a purchased Professional or Enterprise edition, alone or in your products, and charge for them, without further payment. This right is not limited by the end of the maintenance period. You may also distribute the unmodified Viewer.exe and the files it needs, with your Applications, solely so that users can open reports generated by your Applications. You may redistribute the unmodified freeware tools published by the Licensor (EurekaLog Tools Pack, EurekaLog Mega Demo and VirtualMM) as published, without charge. You may not distribute any other part of the Software, including its libraries, source code, documentation or installers, except the Trial as allowed below. You may not sell, rent or lease the Software or any part of it on its own; remove or bypass license checks; or use or share cracks, key generators or keys not issued to you.

6. Trial

The Trial may be used only to evaluate the Software. Applications compiled with the Trial may not be distributed. You may share the unmodified Trial installer, but not in parts or inside other software.

7. Warranty and liability

To the maximum extent permitted by law, the Software is provided "as is", without warranty of any kind, express or implied, including merchantability, fitness for a particular purpose and non-infringement. You choose the Software and bear the risk of its use and results. Only the Licensor may be liable to you under this agreement. The Author is not a party and has no liability. The Licensor is not liable for indirect, incidental, special or consequential damages, including lost data, profits or business interruption, even if advised of them. The Licensor's total liability is limited to the amount you paid for the license concerned. Liability that cannot be limited by law is not limited.

8. Entire agreement, precedence, law

This agreement, together with the terms it refers to and any addendum signed by the Licensor, is the entire agreement between you and the Licensor on the Software. A signed addendum prevails only on the points it expressly covers. Purchase orders, vendor forms, NDAs and reseller terms do not change this agreement unless included in a signed addendum. This agreement is governed by Italian law. The courts of Palermo, Italy, have exclusive jurisdiction, except where mandatory consumer protection law provides otherwise.

9. Transfer

You may transfer each license separately, permanently and in its entirety, to another person or company. You must notify the Licensor in writing, stop using the Software, and the new holder must accept this agreement. If your company is merged or acquired, or sells the business in which the Software is used, the license passes to the successor on the same terms. You may not transfer the license temporarily or in part.

10. Third-party components

The Software may include third-party components. The product documentation supplied with the Software identifies them and includes or points to the notices required by their licenses. The license terms of those components govern them and prevail over this agreement for them; the rest of the Software remains governed by this agreement. If rebuilding a part of the Software requires a license from a component's vendor, the documentation identifies that part.

11. Termination for breach

If you materially breach this agreement and do not cure the breach within 30 days of written notice, the Licensor may terminate your license. You must then stop using the Software. Applications distributed before termination are not affected.

The text above is the binding agreement. The table below is only a plain-language orientation; it does not replace or amend the agreement.

What the license covers

License type	Who may use it and where builds may run
Single Developer	One Developer per seat; the number of seats is stated in your order confirmation. Each may use the Software on any number of Computers, anywhere. You choose the Developers and may permanently reassign a seat when the current Developer leaves or stops working with the Software, without notifying us; a seat may not be shared, lent or temporarily reassigned. Build servers and CI agents used only to compile or test Applications need no additional license.
Company	All Developers assigned to one physical address of the purchasing company, at that address or remotely; non-employees are covered while working for you. Build servers and CI agents used only to compile or test Applications need no additional license.
Corporate	All Developers assigned to the purchasing company or a subsidiary it controls by more than 50% of voting rights, at any office or remotely. Build servers and CI agents used only to compile or test Applications need no additional license.